

Bilingual Montessori Cuts Ribbon on New Infant Center

Submitted by Carol A. Clark on July 14, 2012 - 9:34am

Bilingual Montessori School Owner Odalys Fernandez, assisted by Chamber Member Services Coordinator Katy Korkos, cuts the ribbon on her school's new Infant Center Friday afternoon in White Rock. Bilingual Montessori School combines an exclusive curriculum based on Montessori and bilingual education with childcare services. Photo by Carol A. Clark/ladailypost.com

From right, Bilingual Montessori School Owner Odalys Fernandez and teachers Imelda Garcia and Rosario Cordova with babies under their care at the new Infant Center following Friday's ribbon cutting ceremony. The new Center accepts six week olds and above. Photo by Carol A. Clark/ladailypost.com

The new Bilingual Montessori Infant Center, housed in its own building across the street from the Bilingual Montessori School at 115 Longview Dr., provides baby massage classes, strolls around the neighborhood and a specially designed playground. For more information, visit www.bilingualmontessorischool.com/ or call 672-1800. Photo by Carol A. Clark/ladailypost.com